Woodstock Lament ©2001 William C. Kelly

What happened to Peace, Love, and watching for each other
What happened to Peace, Love, and we gonna save the world
What happened to Peace, Love, and doing the right thing
What happened to the music and the people,
who spent the weekend on the farm

I was young and buying into the story,
Saying we were part of a new renaissance
And now we struggle for the money
Cheating ain't bad it's "just business", if it covers the bottom line

What happened to Peace, Love, and watching for each other
What happened to Peace, Love, and we gonna save the world
What happened to Peace, Love, and doing the right thing
What happened to the music and the people,
who spent the weekend on the farm

Woodstock Lament ©2001 William C. Kelly

I heard a medicine song near Fargo, Sung in words that were already dead and gone
But that won't get me a cup of coffee
Don't be taking space at the counter if you're gonna just pass the time
(What happened?…)

Instrumental

And now we don't get together, there's just no time
And friends they don't meet on Sunday, there's just no time
And Sara's gone off to the Madi Gras, just yesterday
We stood atop Mt. Battie watching boats across the bay
And using the quarter glasses with ice cream on our face…

What happened to Peace, Love, and watching for each other
What happened to Peace, Love, and we gonna save the world
What happened to Peace, Love, and doing the right thing
What happened to the music and the people,
who spent the weekend on the farm…

I guess they just grew old…

From the CD "Another Day" (2002), Track 9